

HOUSE OF LORDS,
S.W.1.

14 11 1963

My dear Rob:

Thank you for your note. Opinion varies between those who consider it bitchy & those who consider it unduly flattering. I don't feel myself compelled to judge.

I refused to discuss 1963 with her except to answer her criticisms about the baby & to tell her how disagreeable I found it; so I can hardly complain if she was inaccurate. I was not able to identify her sources on this part of her story, except one quote, manifestly from Edward Boyle. But much has been published, by Randolph & others.

James, for some reason, proposes to join the Grenadier Guards.
