

CHURCHILL COLLEGE
CAMBRIDGE CB3 ODS

MEDIA RELEASE

10 June 2016

Ms Xiaotian Fu, who completed a graduate degree in Education at Churchill College in 2006-07, is making a major gift to the College. The College is recognizing her by naming the Xiaotian Fu Garden.

Having achieved great success as a journalist with Phoenix Television, including her role as host of the programme “Talk with World Leaders,” Xiaotian Fu is giving back to Churchill College to help future generations of students with the gift of landscape and financial support for students. It is very rare for alumni to make a major gift so soon after his/her graduation and from so far away, we are grateful to Xiaotian Fu for her gift to the College and investment in education and excellence.

The College will be hosting an event on Friday 10 June 2016 to select media and also inviting Chinese Business Delegates at the UK-China Summit.

Churchill College, in the University of Cambridge, is the national and Commonwealth memorial to Sir Winston Churchill and received its royal charter in 1960. It is the embodiment of his vision of how higher education can benefit society in the modern age.

Open, friendly, progressive and outward-looking, Churchill strives to build bridges from academe to business and the professions. It pioneered the entry of women to all-male colleges. It seeks and welcomes able students who might not otherwise aspire to come to Cambridge and draws a rich variety of international scholars. It engages with politicians, political commentators, historians and the media through the work of the Churchill Archives Centre; and collaborates with the business world through its conference and executive education programmes at the Møller Centre.

Note to editors:

Churchill College has some 485 undergraduates, 330 postgraduates, 216 Fellows and 140 staff. We are committed to outstanding academic achievement and thirty of our members have won the Nobel Prize.

Our foundation specifies a focus in mathematics, science and technology, with 70% of our students studying subjects in these fields. We also have many students in the arts and humanities and academic teaching and performance is outstanding across the board.
